

How do I join?

TAS membership may be acquired upon mustering out of a service. It is given as a reward for heroism or extraordinary service to the Society, rather than an "official" benefit of the service involved.

1. Membership may also be purchased, at a cost of MCr1.
2. Member-sponsored membership is provided when another, usually high ranking Member, champions a candidate to the Society's Membership Review Board. The candidate must provide essential value to the Society to waive the standard membership entry requirements.

When can I start using my membership?

From application to notification, the duration of notification is usually sixty days. Notification will be sent via X-Boat message starting with facilities closest to the origin of application outwards. Presenting proper identification to a TAS facility after notification is all that is required to activate your membership.

What is the Travellers' Aid Society?

The Travellers' Aid Society ("TAS"), a private club of interstellar wanderers and adventurers, has been serving the galaxy's finest since 488. TAS has made efforts to have a presence at all Class-A and most Class-B starports throughout charted space. TAS does not accept just anyone as a member, extensive background checks, other member sponsorship, and character tests are performed to ensure the candidate meets the TAS standards.

Membership is for the life of the member and is not transferable. TAS invests its membership fees and other income; it uses its capital to provide benefits to members. Every two months it pays dividends in the form of one High Passage ticket to each member. This ticket may be used, retained, or sold.

"The difference between a 'tourist' and a 'traveller' is that the tourist gets himself into trouble and then can't get out, while the traveller gets himself into trouble and then saves himself somehow."
